

March 24, 2026 – 9:00am – 4:45 pm
 Speaker: Jason Williams

Business Owners and General Managers - You're Invited to a Can't-Miss All Day Workshop on Accountability!

QSC is excited to invite you to a special all-day workshop designed exclusively for businesses in the service trades who are passionate about enhancing accountability within their organizations. This is a must-attend event for service leaders committed to delivering exceptional results and fostering a culture of excellence.

During this transformative workshop, we will explore the six essential components of a successful service business and how they are intricately tied to accountability. You'll gain valuable insights into how implementing these concepts can set the stage for a thriving, accountable culture.

- Discover how to effectively assign measurable metrics for every team member, ensuring everyone knows their role in achieving organizational goals.
- Learn how to keep your organization focused on key projects while promoting accountability for results.
- Adopt a straightforward approach to enhancing employee performance without the hassle of ineffective evaluations.
- And enjoy a live breakdown and interactive demonstration that addresses complex accountability issues, offering real-world solutions that you can implement immediately.

This is a unique opportunity to acquire invaluable knowledge, engage in interactive discussions, network with fellow business leaders and walk away with a plan for implementation of these concepts.

About the Presenter:

Jason Williams is a seasoned Certified EOS Implementer & Outgrow Advisor based in Virginia Beach, Virginia. With a career spanning three decades across various business fields, Jason is all about resilience and adaptability. He's faced many challenges and has gained a lot of experience in guiding businesses toward sustainable growth and success. Jason's commitment to excellence is evident in the numerous organizations he's helped through the Entrepreneurial Operating System (EOS) methodology as well as Outgrow sales training.

When he's not in the session room, Jason loves spending time with his two daughters and son, especially when it involves boating and vacationing. He's a devoted father who draws strength from his faith in God. Known for his vibrant and outgoing personality, Jason excels at making genuine connections both personally and professionally. His mix of expertise, resilience, and faith makes him a trusted advisor and a driving force for transformation in the business world and beyond.